NASA TO SPRAY MOSQUITOES IN LA. MISS. AREA

GAINESVILLE, Miss. (AP) — NASA's Mississippi Test Operation was scheduled to open a massive aerial attack against mosquitoes this week on its 141,500-acre space installation area.

NASA borrowed airplanes from the Air Force to spray one-tenth pound of malathion per acre over the entire area which includes parts of Hancock County and Pearl River County in Mississippi and St. Tammany Parish, La.

The planes will operate out of the Picayune airport.

The stop-gap measure was designed to relieve the mosquito infestation in communities surrounding the NASA rocket testing site. The entire area was expected to be covered in three days.

NASA initiated the program as a temporary measure to aid workers in the $500 million test site until an area-wide project can go into effect.

The counties of Jackson, Harrison and Hancock and the city of Picayune have endorsed a cooperative program to help curb mosquitoes permanently.

NASA advised local residents that malathion was not harmful to humans, plants or animal life.

POST 2
BEAT 5

RUSSELL J. ELLIOTT
CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR BEAT 5

"Actions Speak Louder Than Words"

Especially when proven actions are so outstanding as RUSSELL ELLIOTT'S Record Reveals.

In his present office of Justice of the Peace, he has served with the highest medium of dignity, giving fair and justifiable decisions at all times. Elliott has ruled for the people and by the people.

During his administration many complicated and controversial cases came into his court. He judged all cases strictly by their merits as the evidence revealed. One such trial was the HIGHLY PUBLICIZED, CONTROVERSIAL ISSUE KNOWN AS THE "WINN-DIXIE CASE" whereby it concerned whether or not all businesses in Hancock County would be closed on Sunday or permitted to operate at the Merchants discretion. This case was in the lime-light of the entire Gulf Coast. Some Judges of much higher position would have only accepted this complicated trial with great reluctance.

JUDGE RUSSELL ELLIOTT, without hesitation, handled the case to the satisfaction of the majority of the people in a manner that some top lawyers and Judges highly complimented his concise and well written decision.

The above proved ELLIOTT'S great thinking ability and also that he is a man of DEFINITE ACTION, with concern and consideration for the WELFARE of the People and his Community.

This is "PROVEN ABILITY AND ACTION" NOT MERE WORDS.

We ask you, the people whom Elliott has so graciously and willingly served, Are You Going To Let His Actual True Record Be Forgotten and Over Shadowed By Mere Words And Slogans Of His Opposition?

Please give your answer at the polls on August 6th!

RUSSELL ELLIOTT will greatly appreciate your vote and support in His Candidacy for Supervisor of Beat 5.

Served by Russell J. Elliott, Paid for by Friends.

SHRIMP LANDINGS 248,900 POUNDS

Shrimp landings at Biloxi and Pascagoula amounted to 248,900 pounds during the week ended Friday, the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, New Orleans, reported. The landings were 113,300 pounds at Pascagoula and 135,600 pounds at Biloxi.

For the same week, Mississippi ports reported a catch of 42,200 pounds of hard crabs and 8,000 pounds of finfish.

MISSISSIPPI NOW GROWING FASTER THAN U. S. AVERAGE

STATE COLLEGE - Mississippi is apparently embarking on a period of population growth and expansion unparalleled at any time in its recent history, and currently outranking national growth rates.

This is the conclusion of Mrs. Pearl S. Bryant who has just been completed an estimate of the state's 1962 population in a study for the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station.

Rapid growth of the white population was evident in many areas of Mississippi during 1962, according to this most recent estimate prepared at Mississippi State University. This population growth is a continuation of an observed 1960-61 trend, but a sharp reversal of the state's earlier tendency for heavy emigration of its population. While state increases in the white population were again the most outstanding, the State also accrued slight non-white gains.

The committee has asked Dillon whether a tax cut would require "tighter monetary policy" to prevent further deterioration in U. S. international accounts.

"To this, in my view, the answer is clearly 'no,'" Dillon said. "Under present circumstances, with our economy operating well below its capacity and with high unemployment the stimulus of the substantial tax cut we have recommended would not be inflationary."

"Consequently a tight policy designed to slow consumption and counter inflation would appear to be most inappropriate in the present setting."

While indicating that the administration had no plans to tighten credit and raise interest rates to accompany the proposed tax cut, Dillon did not leave out the possibility that the Federal Reserve Board might take action to raise short term interest rates.

"To explain improvements of population in a modern, mobile society," Mrs. Bryant says, "it is always necessary to look at least in part for accompanying changes in the area's economy. Accordingly it is not surprising to find again in 1962 that the continuing population growth in Mississippi is concurrent with a continuously expanding economy. For instance, the Mississippi Index of Business Activity as computed by the Bureau of Business and Research at this University shows that business activity in Mississippi increased between late 1961 and late 1962 by about 10 percent in new economic growth. During the same nation increased by only about three percent and part of this gain period, the business activity in the represented recovery from the 1960-61 national recession.

"Thus with the state's economic growth rate outstripping that of the nation, it is not surprising that much of her population gain is also ahead of the national average."

Figures covering 1962 population estimates for individual counties in the State were computed and may be obtained from the Department of Sociology and Rural Life at Mississippi State University.

MISSISSIPPI PULPWOOD OUTPUT FOR 1962 9 PERCENT HIGHER

ATLANTA, GA. - Purchases of pulpwood grown in Mississippi and delivered to pulp and paper mills during 1962 totaled $42,000,000, according to H. J. Malsberger of Atlanta, general manager of the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association.

Last year's total for the state, he added, was nine percent higher than the value of $38,376,000 reported for the 1961 deliveries.

These figures were based on the results of a 12-state survey conducted by the U. S. Forest Service Experiment Stations at Asheville, N. C., and New Orleans, La., in cooperation with SPCA.

Among the 77 counties in the state where pulpwood was produced, the three leading counties, and the value of deliveries shipped from each, were Clarke, $1,726,180; Greene, $1,293,280; and Jackson, $1,268,740.

Mississippi's share in the production of wood raw material for the pulp and paper industry, Mr. Malsberger said, was part of an all-time high pulpwood harvest for the South as a whole.

The region's total for 1962 was $511,726,000, a gain of six percent over the previous record of $484,614,000 for 1961.

The South's pulpwood harvest last year was not only fifty-eight percent of the total for the nation, Mr. Malsberger stressed, but was also greater than that of any single foreign country and more than in any area of comparable size in the world.

He emphasized, too, that figures projected from Federal Government surveys show that for the South as a whole, there is a continuing favorable ratio of forest growth over removal. This includes removal of trees harvested for man's use, as well as losses resulting from fire, insects and disease.

"The demand for paper and other pulpwood products expands every year," he added, "and although there are fluctuating market conditions in some localities, for the South as a whole the market outlook favors the continued incentive for wise forest management."

pointed for next year's fair and reports were made on the amount realized which topped last year's amount by several hundred dollars.

These fairs seem to get bigger and better each year and furnish lots of fun for all.

As a fly fisherman, Jerry is pretty good. He has raised some Pearl River and loves to tell how he used to catch 'em. He has also done his share of hunting, camping, etc., nowadays he says, he prefers to wait for cooler weather but will go fishing on cool days. Just another good sport.

Members of the Knock Knock soft ball team and their families enjoyed a real crab boil given by Frank Trapani last week. Frank sponsored the team and says nothing is too good for his excellent players. They always have a good team which is hard to beat.

The Fair to be held by St. Henry's Catholic Church next Saturday and Sunday on the old Kil road should furnish a lot of fun for all. Everything that goes to make up a fair will be there, even an old time shooting match. Beiter attend and help a worthy cause.

A tip to those who do not own down their fly rods after fishing. A piece of Scotch tape wrapped around the handle and holding the line tight will save a lot of fussing and entanglement with other rods.

Another good idea to make soft crabbing more pleasant is to attach a small net on the upper end of the spear, it saves a lot of bending down and crab bites especially good for those in the older and fat bracket.

Social Security

The Social Security Administration is vitally interested in making sure that beneficiaries receive their monthly checks promptly. So, if you plan to change your address, remember to let the social security people know just as soon as you are sure. If you can arrange to let them know by the 15th of the month, they will be in a much better position to direct your next check to your new address on time. With 18 million social security checks going out each month, it is most important that prompt action be taken. If your check goes to your old address and remains in a mailbox there for an undue length of time, there is always the possibility that someone may steal it. In addition to changing your address promptly, the Social Security Administration wants to know when any other events occur that may effect your benefit payments. You can get a list of these events from your social security office. Another item that should be of interest to social security beneficiaries is a yearly report that must be filed by April 15th. This report is required from those beneficiaries who were under age 72 during any part of the previous year and who worked during the year and earned more than $1200. Most people who receive social security benefits earn $1200 or less in a calendar year. These people, of course, are entitled to receive payments each month. Those who earn over $1200 may still receive some payments.

On April 15, when he makes his annual report, the beneficiary reports his earnings for 1962 and he also makes an estimate of his earnings for 1963. This estimate will determine how much in benefits he can be paid this year. The annual reports of old insurance beneficiaries who go on working after 65 are also examined to determine whether their recent earnings make them eligible for an increase in their benefit rates. This time of the year is a good time for beneficiaries, with questions about what information they will need to keep all the year to make these reports, to get in touch with the local social security district office. The social security office for this area is located at 1022 32nd Ave., Gulfport, Mississippi.

APPROVE $92 MILLION CONSTRUCTION PROGRAM FOR MTO FACILITY

WASHINGTON — Senator John Stennis said the Senate Space Committee will begin hearings next week on the 1964 construction program for the Mississippi missile test facility in Hancock and Pearl River Counties.

Meanwhile, Stennis noted the House Committee on Science and Astronautics earlier this week approved a construction program of $32,096,300 for the Mississippi operation.

The House-approved figure was 19 million dollars below the figure of $111,690,000 recommended for Mississippi by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The committee action involves authorization of the construction program, with the actual appropriations of funds for such construction to come as a later step following action by the House and Senate Appropriations Committee.

Stennis said the reduction of the construction program by the House "does not mean a rejection of any of the projects slated for the Mississippi Testing Operations. It simply means," he explained, "that a slippage in time in getting the project started will now require less actual construction this year."

Stennis, a member of the Senate Space Committee and a key figure in the selection of Mississippi for the missile testing site, said, "I want to emphasize to property owners in the test and buffer zone area that this reduction of the construction program for this year will not in any way de-

NEW PROGRAM READY FOR OFFICER CANDIDATE IN NAVAL AVIATION

MILLINGTON, Tenn. — July 10, it is now easier to become a Naval Aviation Officer than ever before. That was the word today from officials at the Naval Air Reserve Training Unit, Memphis.

Under the provisions of a new Officer Candidate Program (OCAN) recently announced by the Navy, college men between the ages of 18 and 25 with only 60 semester hours or 90 quarter hours are eligible.

The new non-pilot program offers career opportunities in navigation, aerology, tactical evaluation, high and low altitude airborne interception, and as navigator bombardier.

Visual requirements have been lowered for the OCAN program. High altitude interceptors and navigator bombardiers can qualify with 20/50 vision corrected to 20/20 with glasses. Low altitude interceptors and navigators bombardiers and all other categories of this program, must have at least 20/200 vision correctible to 20/20.

After attending basic school at Pensacola, Florida, the Naval Aviation Observer attends a technical school within his particular specialty.

For complete details on this and other aviation programs, college men should contact the Naval Aviation Information Office, Naval Air Reserve Training Unit, Naval Air Station, Memphis, Tenn.

MOTOR VEHICLE REGISTRATION SHOW INCREASE IN MISS.

MILLINGTON, Tenn. — Motor vehicle registration in Mississippi showed an increase of 6.7 percent in 1962 over the previous year, according to a summary of motor traffic trends just compiled by the State Highway Department.

According to John D. Smith, commissioner of the Southern District, 865,203 automobiles, truck and bus tags were sold in Mississippi in 1962. This is almost four times the number of vehicle registrations immediately after World War II, and reflects a 55 percent increase over the number registered just ten years ago.

"This phenomenal increase in vehicle numbers, as well as a comparable increase in vehicle operation, compounds the need for more and better highways," Mr. Smith said. A recent study by the Legislature, he added, showed that proper development of the highway system over the next 20 years would require $21-million a year more than is now available to the Highway Department.

Stennis said the proposed legislation is "punitive and oppressive, and it far exceeds any of the vicious plans devised by Thaddeus Stevens in Reconstruction Days."

Blasting the grab for power under the proposed new civil rights plan, Stennis said, "It would be stoven upon the Attorney General, the President's brother - almost unlimited power and authority to interfere with and intrude upon fields which are ultimately related to customs, social patterns and daily lives of our people."

"It is directed at controlling and regimenting such matters as voting, public education, public accommodations, employment opportunities, and the administration of programs for federal grants, loans and guarantees to States and individuals."

Stennis, one of 18 Southern Senators working as a Southern bloc to defeat the civil rights legislation, said:

"The so-called civil rights package, if wrapped and tied up by the Congress and delivered to the country, will create the greatest flood of strife, turmoil and conflict this nation has seen in the

STENNIS BLASTS CIVIL RIGHTS PLAN AS "NAKED" RAW GRAB FOR POWER

WASHINGTON — Senator John Stennis told the Senate here this week the proposed civil rights bill, if adopted, "will destroy more individual rights and liberties than could possibly protect."

Stennis, in a major Senate floor speech, said, "This bill, if it should become law, would vest in one individual — the Attorney General of the United States — more power over the life and property of citizens of this nation than has ever been held by any other individual in the history of this nation."

Stennis said the proposed legislation is "punitive and oppressive, and it far exceeds any of the vicious plans devised by Thaddeus Stevens in Reconstruction Days."

last 100 years."

Finally, Stennis said, "I hope the Congress of the United States is not yet prepared to take this draconian step toward a police state."

With the dedication of the new St. John's Catholic Church having just been completed, Mrs. Clarence Lohman, an elder of this community, who has spent many hours in the old church, has written the following poem expressing how she imagines the old and forgotten one must feel toward this beautiful new modern church.

"THE OLD CHURCH"

I stood and watched the old church back in relaxation As people from every corner of this mighty parish Going into the new church in its streamlined beauty While the old church smiled and seemed to say "I did my duty" Congratulations new church Someday you'll lose your glamour too Now don't think that I envy you, because this is not true in fact I really must confess I'm very proud of you Of course they will dismantle me and haul me away And being very old I'm sure they will handle me with care Not bragging but my timbers are as strong as they can be Oh well, why should I worry I think I did my part

There were lots of things against me from the very start like the wind, rain, and the storms I'm sure there were a score so honestly dear church I really am not sore It's just this little thing in life that you really hate to meet The thing that hurts you to the core, and this is it "DEFEAT"

Get well wishes are extended to Mrs. Eloise Williams who underwent surgery in the Mercy Hospital in New Orleans, and to Eldridge Lohman, brother-in-law of Mrs. Frank Klein Sr., and Mrs. Harvey Ming Sr., of Clermont who

ORCHARD TIPS

Continue summer training of young trees by removing suckers and excess branches.

Keep strawberry plants as free from weeds as possible during the summer. Be careful in hoeing to prevent cutting or pulling loose roots of runner plants.

Keep young pecan trees free from weeds and grass in a six-foot area. Water thoroughly when needed.

Remove badly damaged or dead branches and limbs and trees to prevent shot-hole borers from attacking other trees.

Be sure to brace new grafts on top-worked pecan trees to prevent wind damage. Spray trunks of peach trees with DDT, Dieldrin or Thiodan around August 1st, and again September 1 and October 1 to control peach tree borers. Follow directions in the Mississippi Spray Calendar.

DAIRY FEED

Looks like there will be a real shortage of stored feed this fall so now is the time to do something about it.

Remember, recommendations are that you store two-and-a-half tons of good hay, or one ton of hay and four-and-a-half tons of silage for each cow.

Figure now on how many animals you are going to winter and be sure to have enough feed. Figure heifers as one-half cow when figuring feed needs.

There is still time to plant such crops as soybeans for hay. Sudangrass, millet, one of the Sudan-sorghum crosses, or grain sorghum. When making hay from these crops, a hay conditioner is recommended to help hold quality and shorten curing time.

BEEF CATTLE NOTES
Take the strain off suffering pastures by selling cattle that need to be moved.

These include cows that need to be marketed because of age and poor production. Start culling herds from the lower end. This is where a good set of records will come in handy.

Calves could be moved at a little lighter weight than usual. This will give the cows a chance to gain weight before winter.

It's been said that a farmer has to keep both eyes on the present, and one eye on the future. Perhaps it's this habit of looking ahead that makes rural Americans such consistent buyers of United States Savings Bonds. They've found that Savings Bonds are a safe, sound investment, an investment that grows steadily for long-range goals, or converts quickly to cash when you need it in a hurry.

When you buy Bonds regularly, you're following a sensible program of building a secure future for yourself and for your family. But your Savings Bonds dollars do double duty. They also play a big part in keeping your country

CONSTRUCTION
BOOSTING ECONOMY IN MISSISSIPPI

Highway construction is providing payrolls and boosting the economy generally as never before in Mississippi.

According to John D. Smith, highway commissioner for the Southern District, approximately $15-million was paid to contractors in April, May and June and construction activity is continuing at a brisk rate despite recent rains.

Mr. Smith explained that payrolls average twenty-five to thirty percent of contract payments on highway construction, and in addition, substantial amounts are spent locally by contractors for supplies, materials and maintenance of equipment.

He attributed the large amount of work done during the past three months to good weather which has made it possible for most of the state's highway construction to forge well ahead of schedule.

OTHER MONEY INVOLVED
Payments to contractors represent only a part of the money that is circulated through highway construction, Mr. Smith said. Financing supervision adds additional payrolls, and payments for right of way average about ten percent of the cost of a new road. Virtually all of this money goes directly into the localities where construction is in progress.

Those who want to can remain to play cards.

SECURE A STRONG AMERICA
Secure a Strong America is a free America - and a free America is what we all want for our own lifetime and for our children's as well. Any way you look at it, U. S. Savings Bonds are a good way to save your money.
